3.9. The Introducer is prohibited from money relations with customers (including accepting money, payment and bank cards, etc.) unless authorised by the Company.

3.10. The Introducer agrees to keep confidential the Company’s activity and/or the information that the Introducer becomes aware of in accordance with the requirements of these Regulations.

3.11. The Introducer agrees to inform the Company about all the facts and circumstances, it becomes aware of, that may result in undesired consequences (risks) for the Company.

3.12. Should Customers assert claims to the Company connected with activity of the Introducer, the Introducer agrees to settle all the claims of such customers on its own.

4. Rights and Obligations of the Company

4.1. The Company agrees to provide the Introducer with necessary assistance in executing the mission stipulated hereby.

4.2. The Company agrees to pay Commissions to the Introducer in the amount and under conditions stipulated hereby.

4.3. The Company is responsible for dealing operations and settlement. For settlement verification the Introducer may ask his Customer to provide a report. On its basis the Introducer may appeal to the settlement made by the Company. The Company does not provide reports on the customers attracted by the Introducer.

4.4. The Company has the right to control the Introducer activity in functions and obligations performing under these Regulations.

4.5. The Company has the right to ask and get the detailed report about the Introducer’s obligations fulfillment under these Regulations.

5. Limitation of Introducer’s Authority.

5.1. The Introducer does not have a right to do the following without prior written consent from Company:

5.1.1. assume responsibility on behalf of the Company or put the Company under any obligations;

5.1.2. publish or assist in any advertising publications related to the Company in mass media; also publish and distribute any articles and letters related to the Company or assist in writing of such articles and letters in any newspapers, magazines and other periodicals, Internet blogs and forums;

5.1.3. give any guarantees and/or promises, make any claims in relation to any payments under any contracts and/or agreements concluded by the Company.

5.2. The Introducer, entering into relations with customers, agrees to inform the interested persons and Customers about its Introducer status and powers. Since the Introducer is an intermediary, it is the Company who carries out all actual actions necessary for conclusion and execution of Customer agreements with the customers, also it enters into actual interaction with them, prepares and signs all the required documents.

5.3. The Introducer does not have a right, in its own name and/or on behalf of the interested person, to register a new user in the system of the Company and /or accept Customer agreements on behalf of Customers, use personal logins, passwords and possibilities of personal areas of the Company's customers. The Introducer agrees to inform the Customer that the Customer does not have a right to provide the third parties with the registration data (login and password) required for authorisation on www.fullertonmarkets.com and agrees to keep them secure and confidential. Within the terms of the Customer Agreement all actions related to the execution of the Customer Agreement and/or to usage of login and password of the customer are considered to be executed personally by the customer. The Company does not bear responsibility for unauthorised use of the registration data of the customer by the third persons.

5.4. Under no circumstances the Introducer has a right to:

5.4.1. accept from customers and/or give out to customers' money unless authorised by the Company

5.4.2. Act as an Introducer on behalf of any third parties.

5.5. Limitations stipulated by clauses 5.1.-5.4. hereof are in force within the effective period of the Terms and within 5 years after its termination or cancellation.

5.6. Should as a result of the Introducer's failure to comply with conditions of the Terms (including unauthorised actions or claims of the Introducer) there will be filed lawsuits against the Company, all the losses suffered by the Company are to be compensated by the Introducer in the full scale. Losses are understood as expenses that the Company incurred or will incur restoring its rights and interests (real losses) as well as non-derived income that the Company would have gained in usual business intercourse should its rights and interests were not infringed (lost profit) when valuable interests or business reputation of the Company were violated as a result of failure to execute or improper execution of obligations by the Introducer under these Terms. The Introducer does not have a right to dispute the amount of loss claimed by the Company for compensation.

5.7. Should the Introducer break conditions of these Terms, the Company reserves the right to block the trading account of the Introducer until all losses, suffered as a result of breach of the conditions hereof, are compensated. the Company has a right to cover losses inflicted by the Introducer by the money payable to the Introducer under these Terms and also under the Customer Agreement and its integral appendices.

5.8. The Introducer, his relatives or affiliates cannot act as the Introducer's customers. In case any data of the Introducer and his Customer coincide (such as passport data, address, telephone, e-mail, ip-addresses, etc.), this Customer's login will be excluded from the Introducer's customer list, and no bonuses will be paid for it. The accounts, traded from one ip-address, are considered as one active account. Should the ip-address of a Customer coincide with the ip-address of the Introducer such accounts are considered as affiliated and no bonuses are payable for them.

6. Trading Commissions Paid to Introducer by the Company

6.1. Each month the Company pays out commissions for every single Customer account attracted by the Introducer in the amount of stipulated by clause 6.3. hereof.

6.2. Commissions of the Introducer are calculated for every single Customer account attracted by the Introducer and are credited to the trading account of the Introducer (hereinafter the "Account") in one of the following ways:

6.2.1. on a real-time basis: commissions are credited to the Introducer after each complete transaction made by the customers attracted by the Introducer, taking into account the requirements of clause 6.7. hereof;

6.2.2. on a daily basis: in this case all complete transactions made by the attracted customers during the settling-day are considered, taking into account the requirements of clause 6.7. hereof;

6.3. on a monthly basis; paid to Introducer within fifteen (15) days following the last day of the calendar month.

6.3.1. The mode of commission calculation is at the discretion of the Company.

6.4. Settlement period is understood on a daily basis. The Introducer has a right to submit a request for withdrawal of the commission money from its Account anytime. The request is submitted only via the Client area on the Company's website. The request is to be processed by the Company within 2 (two) business days from the date it is received.

6.5. The Company starts adding and paying commissions to the Introducer under the condition stipulated by clause 6.1. hereof, i.e. the Introducer has 1 active account opened by the attracted customers. Active account is understood as an account that has at least one transaction per month.

6.6. The Company has a right to introduce at its sole discretion amendments to the conditions of commissions adding and payment keeping with clause 10.4. of the Regulations.

6.7. Commissions indicated in clause 6.1. hereof are the only payment to the Introducer and the Introducer may not claim for another remuneration, unless otherwise mutually agreed to by Introducer and The Company.

6.8. The Introducer accrues the right to withdraw the commission sum from the Account only provided the Account is activated by The Company.

6.9. The Introducer is not allowed to recruit himself as Client, in order to prevent the scenario of the Introducer earning commissions from his own trades.

7. Introducer Registration Procedure

7.1. To activate an account, the Introducer needs to open a live trading account:

7.1.1. Fill in the on-line application form (Introducer Application Form) on The Company's website.

8.1.1. that it has the required capacity and authority to accept these Terms;

8.1.2. to attract potential customers.

8.2. The Introducer guarantees fulfillment of its obligations.

8.3. The Introducer agrees to compensate losses and prevent indebtedness to The Company and its personnel without any claims, demands, suits, expenses, losses, charges (including litigation expenses) and fines that may arise as a result of the Introducer's guarantee commitments breach.

9. Contract Term

9.1. These Terms come into force for the Customers of Company from the date of its acceptance by the Introducer and terminate from the moment the Customer agreement ceases to be effective.

10. Force-Majeure

10.1. None of the Parties hereof is liable for complete or partial failure to fulfill its obligations should the failure result from force-majeure circumstances (floods, fire, earthquake and other acts of God, as well as war or different military operations, blockade, government regulation and other unavoidable cases of emergency independent from the Parties).

10.2. The Party, that fails to fulfill its obligations, agrees to inform immediately, not later than 5 bank days from the moment such circumstances occurred and ended, the other Party in a written form about the onset, expected duration and cessation of the foregoing circumstances.

10.3. Facts, stated in the notification, are to be proved by a competent body or organisation of the relevant country. Failure to notify or untimely notification deprives the Party from its right to refer to any of the foregoing circumstances as a ground releasing from liability for failure to fulfill its obligations.

10.4. Should impossibility of completion or partial fulfillment of obligations last for more than 3 months, the Agreement is automatically cancelled.

11. Miscellaneous

11.1. Should there arise a disputable situation with customers attracted by the Introducer, decision of the Company is considered to be conclusive.

11.2. The introducer acknowledges and agrees that he/she is responsible for the payment of all relevant duties and/or charges and/or taxes arising from the course of his business"

11.3. Has the right to terminate the business relationship with any client at any time.

11.4. In the event of any dispute, or complaint from a client, the Company has the right to hold back any commissions due to the introducer until such issues are resolved.”

11.5. Should one of the Parties not raise a demand for obligations fulfillment, the other Party hereof is not discharged from fulfillment of its obligations under this Agreement, as well as it does not mean refusal from obligations.

11.6. In case of discrepancy, the English version of these Regulations is considered to have priority above the texts of these Regulations in other languages.

11.7. The Introducer acknowledges that the Company has a right to amend separate clauses of these Regulations any time having previously notified the Introducer in a written form 7 (seven) calendar days in advance before such amendments are introduced. Any such amendment comes into force on a date stated in the written notification.

11.8. Written notification under this agreement is understood as one of the following means of communication:

11.8.1. e-mail;

11.8.2. post;

11.8.3. announcement on the Company’s website.

11.9. The Company will use the Introducer’s contact information, e.g. address, e-mail etc., indicated in the Introducer’s Application form or the latest updated contact information of the Introducer after its relevant written notification.

11.10. Any correspondence (documents, announcements, notifications, confirmations, reports etc.) is considered to be received by the Introducer:

11.10.1. in one hour after it has been sent to the e-mail address indicated in the Application form of the Introducer;

11.10.2. in seven calendar days from the moment the posting is sent;

11.10.3. in one hour after the announcement is posted on the Company’s website.

11.11. The Introducer agrees to inform the Company immediately about changes in its contact information indicated in its Introducer Application form. Notification may be sent by post, e-mail, facsimile or other communication facility that allows to:

11.11.1. inform the Company immediately;

11.11.2. identify with certainty that the notification comes from the Introducer;

11.12. For the avoidance of doubt and without any exception: the Introducer must always perform in his own name, but not on Company's behalf. The beginning of any relations on the Company's behalf is the howling breach of these Terms involving its termination and cancel of any payments and compensations to the Introducer.

11.13. If the Introducer breaks clauses 3.8. and 3.9., or any other clauses of these Terms the Company may estimate it as a howling breach of these Regulations involving its termination and cancel of any payments and compensations to the Introducer.

In Accepting these Terms, the Introducer confirms that:

It has read and understood the terms and conditions of the Regulations; all the terms and conditions of the Regulations are understood and accepted in the full scale; there are no circumstances that may prohibit from the Regulations acceptance.
